Dear Dr. Hannah:

As you may know, we in the Central Intelligence Agency are planning the construction of a new headquarters office building for which the Congress has appropriated some $46,000,000. We hope to make it a most attractive place for our employees to work and one of the ways in which we hope to accomplish this is through an up-to-date food service installation.

Colonel Lawrence K. White, who is handling these matters for me, visited your School of Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Management last week accompanied by two of his associates. He has reported to me not only the great value of his visit in connection with planning for our food service, but also the fine installation you have there and the extremely courteous and helpful manner in which he was treated by those members of your staff with whom he met. He spent several hours with Professor Donald Greenaway, Mr. Emery Foster, and Mr. Michael J. Pirochowski who were all most generous with their time and ideas.

I would like you, personally, to know that I appreciate most sincerely all that these people did to make Colonel White's visit a profitable one.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
Director
